Farewell My Dear Children

Farewell my dear children, don't weep for I am at peace now, I am just asleep. Farewell my dear children, I am not alone, Jesus has called me home. Just think back over the years, how mom seemed so strong, holding back tears. Yet God somehow always made a way and I thanked Him every night for another day. Be good my dear children, always love each other. Be thoughtful, be strong my dear children, strong in heart, the blood ties, no one can ever part. Farewell my dear children, I've been called away, walk with God children and trust Him each day.

A Mother's Blessings

Acknowledgements

We are never ready or prepared when a love one departs this earth and transitions to the afterlife. Your thoughtfulness and heartfelt expressions of love, sympathy and concern towards our family has made this transition easier with each passing day. Whatever your role, large or small; or just your voice on a call, we thank you! May the blessings of God be with you.

My Loving Mother

To the one who gave us life, we can give nothing but love. To the Star so full of light, to the one sent from above, thank you for the kindness for everything you do. Thank you for the happiness, thanks for seeing us through. We love you more than anything, we'll love you to the end, you are our first mother, then our very best friend. It is unusual what we share, everything we do you know, every beautiful quality you have in you, we try to show. To live forever in our hearts is what we wish for you, A long eternal life everlasting for one so sacred and true. You are our special angel who we will always find comfort in, whether life is in shambles, whether we lose or whether we win. To the one who gave us life, we can give nothing but love, to the one who genuinely is, resting in heaven above.

Love always, Yvette, Dwayne and Terrance
