

~Joice Journey With Pop~

As I, the eldest daughter walked those hallways and sitting in those waiting rooms, some daytime and other in the midnight hour, I watched for 39 months my Pop slip into and became a humble man in a lot of ways some may not agree with me but I cherish the time I had with him some was good visits other not so good. I will never forget my beginning that lies inside my Father and Mother. I now know that he was the missing pieces of all of our lives. My sisters and brothers, I never knew love until I learned how to forgive first. When

I found peace within myself then I realized that you can truly love your best. Never give up on loving your parents, both of them was chosen by the Almighty GOD to lead us to adulthood and parenthood and it's no changing what God has put in place. We only can change our own views. Pop would say dry your eyes this is a part of life and we all will face it sooner or later. You asking me how I'm doing I tell you ask me tomorrow. Now I must say goodbye for now because the Lord Jehovah is here with his hand stretched out for my hand. I must take this journey to rest in peace now don't cry for me, I'm in a better place. I love you'll sometimes it seems like tough love but I meant well.
